People in the Bible

RUTH

The Book of Ruth is one of the shortest in the Old Testament and it tells the story of a girl who came from Moab and return home to Bethlehem. Orpah, the wife of the other brother, stayed in Moab but rather than leave Naomi, old and alone, Ruth went with her saying, 'Where you go, I will go; your people shall be my people, and your God my God.'

Ruth and Naomi were poor and had to search for food but were protected by Naomi's relative Boaz. In time Boaz married Ruth and they had a son called Obed who in turn was grandfather to King David, the founder of the royal line which led to the birth of another boy at Bethlehem, the baby Jesus. Naomi and Ruth both knew what it was to be a stranger in a foreign land but they supported each other. The story of Ruth shows us the love and loyalty that can hold a single family together.

Great Wilderness Down Scheme

Open Day

Saturday 11th August 2012 Stalisfield Village Green 10am - 4pm Come and join in!

There will be events and activities such as:

- Bird ringing demonstrations
- Small Mammal trapping - followed by release
- Dormouse handling demonstrations
- A visit to a nearby meadow with a botanist
- An evening bat walk 8.30 - 10pm
- Reptile searches
- Looking for evidence of hedgehogs that have been living in village gardens
- Wildlife gardening advice by experts
- Wild flower walks
- Insect and moth trapping

In 2010 the Kent Wildlife Trust began an exciting conservation project in Stalisfield. Stalisfield already has a great variety of wildlife habitats such as ancient woodland and uncultivated wildflower meadows.

The aim of the Great Wilderness Down Scheme is to preserve, restore and create different wildlife habitats in the area.

The way I see it: Welcome to the real Olympics!

Just to set the record straight, the Olympic Games - yes, the events that will bring much of London to a standstill this month - were founded in 776BC in ancient Greece. They involved athletics, poetry and music and were held at Olympia (hence their title), a centre for the worship of Zeus. You may recall that mount Olympus - the highest point in Greece - was the dwelling place of the gods and goddesses of Greek and Roman religion.

Once the Christian faith prevailed in the Roman Empire the Games were abolished, in the fourth century AD. What we have this month is a modern revival of the Games, the brainchild of a Frenchman, Pierre de Coubertin. It was he who memorably declared that the object of the Games was not the winning but the taking part.

The ancient Olympic Games had no element of international competition, no rankings, no flags or national anthems. The youth of the world were invited to Olympia to test their prowess against others - not just athletically, as we have noted, but artistically. By contrast, the modern Games have become a celebration of national triumphalism, a notion far removed from the original Greek model, but also foreign to the vision of de Coubertin. He would have deplored medals tables, anthems, flag-raising and all the media hype that surrounds perceived national success or failure. Patriotic pride has attached itself to the accumulation of gold medals - many in Britain will write this year's Games off as a failure if Team GB does not win more of them than we did last time.

The ancient Games are conspicuous in the New Testament, especially in the letters of St Paul. He must have been a bit of an athletics fan, because time and again he reverts to the Games for illustrations of Christian pilgrimage. The marathon was the greatest of all the contests, and that provided him with the perfect picture of the faithful life, from the starting line to the distant finish.

The Christian competes, but not against the other runners. Our contest is with all the things that will distract us, slow us down, divert our eyes from the ultimate goal. And at the end of the marathon of life there is the prize, the 'crown of glory' - not just for the winner, but for everyone who completes the course.

'I have fought the good fight', he writes. 'I have finished the race, I have kept the faith.' Not won, you notice, but finished. And for that, he says, he will receive the crown - 'and not only me but all who have longed to see him' (2 Timothy 4:8). The apostle and the founder of the modern Games would agree on one thing for sure. The prize is not for winning, but for taking part.

Your 3 Way Prayer Support

Here are three ways we may be able to help you pray for yourself or someone you love who could be helped by prayer.

The Healing Prayer support group runs a 'Prayer Circle' which is open for anyone to phone 01795 534083 and speak to Chris or Dave, who will be only too happy to pass on your prayer request.

Eastling church is open every day for you to come in and write your prayer requests in our prayer book.

Alternatively you will be welcome at the communion service on the first Sunday of each month at Eastling, when the team offers prayer, with laying on of hands, during and after the communion. Or you can pop in afterwards and ask for the healing team member on duty and speak to them. This is available to all, we don't judge and you don't even have to explain why you need prayer if you don't want to.

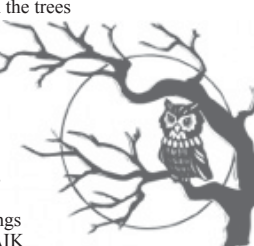

An Interest in Nature

by Audrey Keen

If you have a patch of ground where you can grow borage bees, will come; if you have sunflowers you will attract chaffinches and greenfinch; a covered pond with a small side opening will encourage badgers may drink and of course a bird table, set away from predators such as cats and sparrow hawks, is a great help to small song birds. A rough patch of ground will allow bees to make their home underground and mice and numerous birds will all find something to attract them there. The sunflowers also provide nectar for the bees and other birds as well as the finches: all will eat the seeds that fall. Pigeons will crop the clover patch while green woodpeckers choose the lawn, and the house itself can be a magnet for moths and bats.

The moon peers down between the trees
I saw it there last night,
A part of it at least I think,
The rest was out of sight.
Sometimes on nights like these
Or just before it's dark,
I listen for the owls to hoot
Or roaming fox to bark.
The bats fly by the night moths
And other nocturnal friends:
A little help for these small things
Is what the moonlight sends. AIK

EASTLING PARISH COUNCIL

The Parish Council was held on Wednesday 4th July 2012. Councillors are pleased that the Youth Club is continuing with some of the parents helping to supervise the youths at the club.

The Chairman congratulated Alan Willson on his work the area round the village sign especially the roses that looked beautiful, a great asset to the village.

The Parish Council are pleased to acknowledge the great success of the Jubilee Celebrations in the village and would like to thank Bay Lees and Marion Willson, and Mitch at the Carpenter's for making a special day of entertainment.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday 26th September at 6.30pm in Eastling Village Hall. Residents are always welcome to attend.

The youngsters are now on their summer break from school, so I would request everybody to take care when driving around the village. Expect the unforeseen as the weather looks like it is turning for the better and you could see more youngsters out and about.

Time flies and here we are at Harvest time again so do expect to see tractors around the area so again, take care as a 20 ton tractor with a 10 ton load cannot stop on a sixpence; also tractor drivers please take it steady as you normally do.

There are still reports of rogue e mails on computers so please, do not divulge any of your private particulars in response to the e mails, just delete them.

At the entrance to the footpath by the waterworks there has been considerable damage to the metal barriers, believed to be caused by off road motor bikers. Kent County Council have asked Kent Police to investigate and prosecute, so if any person has any information please contact Swale police on 101 or myself on 07794 010394

Have a good month and take care out there.

Eastling Memories

Jack Taylor contacted the Good News via the Eastling village website: www.eastling.co/, with this memory.

I believe that in the late 40's or early 50's the Rev Townsend-Blake became Minister of Eastling and the village population was inspired to form a choir. Suddenly - we had a choir of more than 20 - not necessarily singing in harmony - but presenting a good voice. Maurice Chittenden was prevailed upon to pump the organ, and he performed that task with diligence - when so moved - to the chagrin of our choir director and organist - "Old Reekie" - who was imbued with the task of presenting a pleasing sound on Sundays.

Stalisfield Olympics

On Friday 10th August at 7.30 in the evening, The Independent Republic of Stalisfield will match athletic prowess with competitors representing the nations of the British Isles, in the barn of Derbies Court. National pride is at stake in six competitive events two of which will bear astonishing resemblance to the frog races of previous years.

In essence, the format of the meet will follow closely that of the frog races but with an Olympic twist. As before, five competitive places will be auctioned for each race except for the initial relay which will call for a double team. Sponsorships will also be invited. One additional feature- the water feature- will make use of the Derbies swimming pool. Anyone eager to be one of the five to compete should come prepared with swimsuit and towel.

We plan on a programme of six events with an interval for supper. Our ticketing policy is far simpler than the one adopted for London in that a telephone call to Ian on (01795) 890475 will ensure attendance up to the capacity of the barn. The inflation defying price of £10 for adults and £6 for children, includes supper of fish and chips delivered piping hot in the interval. Thirsty throats can be eased by the drinks available at modest prices from the licensed bar throughout the evening. Soft drinks will of course, also be served.

For an exciting fun-filled evening make your reservations now. There is little time between now and the 10th August and demand is high.

See you on the night.

The Mobile Library visits Eastling, every fortnight, at the entrance to Glebe Cottages. It is open to everyone, free of charge. August dates are Tuesdays 7th and 21st, 10.50 - 11.05am.

FRIENDS of EASTLING SCHOOL

Over 300 parents, children and friends braved the torrential showers to enjoy an action packed Summer Fête. Live music was provided by 'Hailbop', who kept spirits up during the downpours! Just over £3000 was raised and thanks go to the organisers and, of course, to all who came along to support the school.

The weather was kind for the End of Term Social and everyone had a great evening enjoying the BBQ and bar, with music provided by Ivan's All Stars'.

I will have second hand uniform available at very reasonable prices at the beginning of Autumn Term on Friday 7th September from 3pm in the school hall.

Raise money for the rebuild of Stalisfield Village Hall without parting with extra cash ! !

Everyclick.com has launched a new way to donate called "Give as you Live".

It means you can shop online at your favourite retailers and raise money for THE STALISFIELD VILLAGE HALL TRUST at the same time, as those retailers who have signed up for the program will make a donation directly to our charity. Please go to <http://www.everyclick.com/the-stalisfield-village-hall-trust/ct48213>, and from there sign up to 'Give as you Live'. It takes a few minutes to register, but once you have you don't have to do anything else. All that will happen is a box will appear every time you go to the website of one of the vendors who have signed up to the program, asking if you would like them to donate money to our charity. There are over 1,800 online stores who have signed up including Tesco, Marks and Spencer, Amazon, Expedia, B&Q, Top Shop and John Lewis.

It's very simple and it will really help us raise money for the hall at no cost to you!!

Stalisfield Wild Life

Are You Going to Stalisfield Fair?

"Pray tell me pretty maiden, whither art thou bound?"
"I'm away to Stalisfield sir; to the coolest place around".
"Then tell me pretty maiden, what happens this day there?"
"Have you not been told sir?"
"Tis the annual summer fayre".

"Then tell me of the special things that there would greet mine eyes."
"Well with luck and a little skill sir, you'd surely win a prize. Or with silver in your hand sir, there's treasure on display. And the bargains on the stalls sir, are there to take away.

If hunger's pang you felt sir, there's food to sate your need, From nibbles in the hut sir, to a veritable feast indeed. And should you wish to watch sir, the dancers on the sward, They're the finest to be found sir, on that you have my word.

Then the musick from the band sir, would surely charm your ear, With the sweetest tunes in the land sir, of that there is no fear."
"Then take my arm, my pretty one and lead me to this fayre."
To stay away from Stalisfield is more than I now dare."

Traditional, circa 2012

Well we could have just told you of the competitions, children's races, stalls, draws and raffles, games of skill and luck, the barbecue, the WI refreshments and the Ashford Concert Band. We could mention the local produce stall, the barrow of booze, the stocks and Splat-the-Rat ----but where's the fun and challenge in that?

Come along to the Green at Stalisfield on Saturday 25th August at 2pm and see for yourselves. We can't guarantee a prize but we can promise a happy afternoon for all the family, from 2 o'clock onwards.

Stalisfield Higher Life

Daring Duo Descend

Yes! They did it! In full view of a supporting crowd the Intrepid Ladies of Stalisfield took part in the KM Abseil Challenge on Sunday 15th July. Cat and Tracy demonstrated their determination to raise funds for the Village Hall Rebuild Fund in a spectacular way when they made their sponsored mountaineering descent on ropes down the sheer facade of the Leas Cliff Hall in Folkstone.

They each declined an invitation to climb back up again (choosing the cliff lift instead), but do not let that be your excuse for not matching their superb effort by making a contribution of mountaineering or molehill-eeing proportions to swell the pot. Gratitude is guaranteed. The book is still open and maintained by Tracey Smith at Flint Barn, Redborough Farm, Stalisfield, ME13 0HX, (01795 890517). Alternately the website may be convenient at <https://mydonate.bt.com/charities/stalisfieldvillagehalltrust>

The end result will be announced at the Stalisfield Olympics and in GOOD NEWS. Who knows - with sufficient encouragement they might do it again.

Don't miss out.
